This poll was conducted throughout January and February of 1999 by way of a communication sent to every household in North Toronto(houses and apartments). The question was "Should Toronto dump its bid for the 2008 Olympics?" Respondents were asked to call, fax, write or telephone their answer to my office. All responses were logged and callers were asked to leave their name, address and phone number. Although there was a significant response from the community, this cannot be considered a scientific poll.
